THE SOCIETY FOR CLASSICAL STUDIES: COFFIN FELLOWSHIP FOR TRAVEL IN CLASSICAL LANDS

The Fellowship is intended to recognize secondary-school teachers of Greek or Latin who are as dedicated to their students as the Coffins themselves by giving them the opportunity to enrich their teaching and their lives through direct acquaintance with the classical world. It will support study in classical lands (not limited to Greece and Italy); the recipient may use it to attend an educational program in (e.g. American Academy, American School) or to undertake an individual plan of study or research. It may be used either for summer study or during a sabbatical leave, and it may be used to supplement other awards or prizes.

Candidates for the Fellowship must have been teaching Latin or Ancient Greek at the secondary level (grades 9-12) in North America as a significant part of their academic responsibilities for three years out of the five prior to the award. Membership in the APA is not a requirement for application, although it is expected that applicants will have demonstrated an active interest in the profession and in their own professional development. Selection will be made on the basis of written applications by the Coffin Fellowship Committee. The amount of the award for 2016 will be $2,750. Recipients of the award will be expected to file a written report on their use of the Fellowship, which the Association may include in one of its publications.

Check the SCS website for additional details, including application instructions and deadline.

THE SOCIETY FOR CLASSICAL STUDIES: MINORITY SCHOLARSHIP IN CLASSICS AND CLASSICAL ARCHAEOLOGY

The purpose of the scholarship is to further an undergraduate's preparation for graduate work in classics or classical archaeology. Eligible proposals might include (but are not limited to) participation in classical summer programs or field schools in Italy, Greece, Egypt, etc., or language training at institutions in the U.S, Canada, or Europe. The maximum amount of the award will be $4,500.

Candidates will be judged on the basis of (a) their academic qualifications, especially in classics, including demonstrated ability in at least one classical language, or in fields that prepare a student to become an archaeologist, (b) the quality of their proposal for study particularly as preparation for a career in classics or archaeology, and (c) financial need. The application must be supported by a member of the SCS, and a statement must be included indicating that this is an appropriate candidate for the purposes of this scholarship.

Check the SCS website for additional details, including application instructions and deadline.

TEXAS CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION: GWYN MORGAN TCA PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP
