Advisory Council on Classical Studies to the Committee on the Humanities Member Institution Benefits, Academic Year 2020-2021

Since 1913, America's leading colleges and universities have been Member Institutions of the American Academy in Rome. Their participation helps to support and maintain the Academy, which, in turn, serves as an important scholarly resource for faculty members and graduate students.

Member Institutions of the American Academy in Rome's Advisory Council are given the exclusive opportunity to participate in the Academy's governance. Member Institutions:

- Elect one member of the Academy's Board of Trustees.
- Appoint up to three faculty members to serve on the Advisory Council on Classical Studies to the Committee on the Humanities, the Trustee Committee that oversees Academy programs and juries in the Humanities
- Elect the AAR jury that annually selects the Rome Prize Winners in Ancient Studies

The Council meets annually in conjunction with the meetings of the Society for Classical Studies and the Archaeological Institute of America.

AFFILIATED FELLOWSHIPS

For an additional fee, Member Institutions may name an Affiliated Fellow to be in residence at the Academy for a period of four weeks. The Affiliated Fellow receives the following:

- Housing (a single room with private bath)
- Meals on the same plan as those provided to Rome Prize Fellows and Residents, typically lunch six days a week, and dinner five days a week, except holidays. Due to COVID-19 protocols, 2020-21 meals are reduced. The 2021-22 meal plan has yet to be determined and will be assessed and updated as appropriate in coordination with safety protocols.
- Access to Academy scholarly resources: Library, Photographic Archive, Norton Van Buren Seminar Room, and Archaeology Study Collection.
- Access to Academy public programming such as concerts, conferences, exhibitions, lectures, readings, and symposia.

Affiliated Fellowship Deadlines

The deadline for submitting intent to send an Affiliated Fellow for the 2021-2022 academic year is March 15, 2021. Criteria for selecting an Affiliated Fellow are at the discretion of the Member Institution.

The deadline for submitting the Fellow's name, contact information, and preferred residency dates is April 30, 2021.

SUMMER PROGRAMS

Students from Advisory Council Member Institutions may receive priority registration for the AAR's Summer Programs. These programs fill gaps in American university education and expand the reach of the humanities in the United States. Each program is designed to take advantage of the AAR's location in Rome and its unique access to materials, sites, and experiences not typically available to American students. A complete list of Summer Programs can be found at <https://www.aarome.org/apply/academic-programs>.

VISITING SCHOLARS

Faculty from Member Institutions may apply to join the Academy community as Visiting Scholars and are given preferential consideration in the application process. They rent space at the Academy for periods of two to eight weeks. Please see <https://www.aarome.org/apply/visiting-artists-scholars> for a description of accommodations, costs and deadlines. In past years, approximately 200 scholars and artists were selected.

LIBRARY ACCESS FOR FACULTY

Faculty from Member Institutions enjoy access to the exemplary collections and resources of the Arthur and Janet C. Ross Library, and to continued Library access when the Library closes to outside readers in mid-July, until the Academy's closing. Please see <https://www.aarome.org/research/library> for more information.

FACILITY RENTAL

Member Institutions have special access to the American Academy's facilities in Rome. The AAR's 17th
